

Payal Vadhani

Partner, Technology Risk Services Group

CONTACT PAYAL

P: 301.231.6259

F: 301.231.7630

pvadhani@aronsonllc.com

CONNECT WITH ARONSON

aronsonllc.com

blogs.aronsonllc.com

P: 301.231.6200

Payal Vadhani, IT-CMF, CISA, is the partner-in-charge of Aronson LLC's Technology Risk Services Group. She is an innovative and seasoned executive with more than fifteen years of technology risk advisory and assurance experience. Her experience has been providing internal auditing, IT risk management, information and cyber security, third party reporting, compliance, process improvement, and additional technology risk services to clients across industries. In particular, she has extensive financial services experience.

Throughout her career, she has sought to align clients' needs and strategic objectives with an approach that manages the risks of technology with the benefits. As a trusted advisor to her clients, Payal succeeds in breaking down complex technology concepts and developing pragmatic, cost-effective solutions that minimize risk and add value. She offers significant experience building technology risk management programs and managing large advisory engagements.

In her current role, she is focusing on the development of risk services related to existing and emerging technologies including cloud (private and public) computing, mobile computing, big data, social media, and internet of things.

Education:

- University of Pune: Bachelor's in Engineering and Computer Science
- American University: Masters of Business Administration in Information Technology